

Terms and Conditions for Submitting Case Studies to Retrofit Canada

1. Acceptance of Terms: By submitting a case study to our Website or Retrofit Canada, you agree to comply with and be bound by these Terms and Conditions.
2. Ownership and Use: You retain ownership of your case study content. By submitting, you grant Retrofit Canada, and its users, a perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free, worldwide license to use, reproduce, modify, adapt, publish, translate, create derivative works from, distribute, and display the content in any media or format, for educational, research, and other purposes, including commercial purposes.
3. Open Source: Once submitted, your case study will be made publicly available and treated as open-source content. This means that retrofitcanada.com's third-party users can freely access, use, and share the information provided in your case study, including for commercial purposes. You acknowledge that Retrofit Canada cannot control the use of your case study once it has been published.
4. Protection of Personal Information: If your case study includes personal information, you must have obtained the necessary consent to disclose this information. Retrofit Canada will take steps to anonymize or protect personal data where appropriate, but you are responsible for ensuring that no confidential or sensitive information is included in your submission without proper authorization.
5. No Liability: Retrofit Canada assumes no liability for any claims, damages, or losses that may arise from the publication or use of your case study. By submitting your case study, you agree to release Retrofit Canada from any and all liability associated with your submission.
6. Accuracy of Information: You are responsible for the accuracy and completeness of the information provided in the case study. Retrofit Canada reserves the right to reject or remove any case study that is found to be inaccurate, misleading, or inappropriate.
7. Grant of Rights: By submitting your case study, you represent and warrant that you own the rights necessary to grant the permissions outlined in these Terms and Conditions.
8. Indemnification: You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Retrofit Canada, its officers, directors, employees, agents, and affiliates from any claims, liabilities, damages, losses, or expenses, including legal fees, arising out of or in connection with your submission of a case study, including but not limited to claims of intellectual property infringement or breach of confidentiality.
9. Modification of Terms: Retrofit Canada reserves the right to modify these Terms and Conditions at any time, and such modifications will be effective immediately upon posting on our Website. It is your responsibility to review these terms periodically for changes. Your continued submission of case studies following any changes will constitute your acceptance of the revised disclaimer.
